I. READING
Amy Johnson was born on 1st July 1903 in Hull, in the north-east of England.
Three months after her eighteenth birthday she went to university to study Economics. When she left university three years later she moved to London and decided to work as a secretary. Her job was very boring, so she wanted an exciting hobby and joined the London Aeroplane Club. In 1929 she got her pilot's licence. Amy wanted to show people that women could do the same things as men and she decided to become a great pilot. In 1930 she flew 11,000 miles from England to Australia on her own in nineteen and a half days. Two years later she broke the world record for a solo flight from London to Cape Town in South Africa. Amy Johnson died a few months before her thirty-eighth birthday when her plane crashed into the River Thames. Her death was a tragedy and a mystery. Even today people don't know what happened to her.
